Regional Parkinson Center in Milwaukee, Wisconsin

The Regional Parkinson Center is one of the largest centers of its kind in the United States and sees more than 120 patients per week. Recognized as a “National Parkinson Foundation care center,” the Regional Parkinson Center is among the nation’s most comprehensive Parkinson disease programs, featuring diagnosis, treatment, education and support, research, and rehabilitation.

Wisconsin Institute for Neurologic and Sleep Disorders, S.C.

More than 20,000 people with Parkinson symptoms have been treated at the outpatient center over the past 20 years, and the center follows the progress of 3,000 patients annually. The center’s standing as a leader in the treatment of Parkinson disease provides an enormous database that can contribute to solving treatment issues and understanding the potential causes of Parkinson disease. The center also conducts major pharmaceutical studies to understand better the long-term-care implications of medications currently used to manage the symptoms of the disease.

Wisconsin Parkinson Association / Parkinson Research Institute

The Wisconsin Parkinson Association (WPA) is a nonprofit organization affiliated with the Regional Parkinson Center that conducts local and regional education programs about Parkinson disease, providing literature, videotaped educational material, and a speaker’s bureau. The WPA also coordinates community support groups throughout Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Michigan that assist people with Parkinson disease and their caregivers and families.

The Parkinson Research Institute (PRI) was established to uncover the cause(s) of the disease, advance the quality of patient treatment, and identify promising new directions to follow in the quest for the cure. The mission of PRI is to gather and analyze data that will build the capacity of national and international research to uncover the cause(s) of Parkinson’s so that we can find a cure.

Acute Care for the Elderly (ACE) and Rehabilitation Services at Aurora Sinai Medical Center

Aurora Sinai Medical Center is a 234-bed, community-based, not-for-profit hospital serving Milwaukee’s diverse urban population. ACE is a nationally known program that focuses on the individual’s acute care, recovery, and rehabilitative needs. The nurses and therapists at Aurora Sinai Medical Center have extensive knowledge of Parkinson disease and are uniquely qualified to meet the needs of Parkinson patients.
President’s Message

by Richard Schumann
President, Board of Directors

Dear Friends,

As we close up the fiscal year 2012-13, we are getting back to basics. Our responsibility to our constituents strongly dictates that we focus our energies on programming – for those who live with Parkinson disease, for family care partners and professional caregivers, and for those who have been newly diagnosed who are meeting the challenge of learning about the disorder and how best to negotiate their journey with Parkinson’s. We will be concentrating on education and outreach, and we are strengthening relationships with support groups and their facilitators to provide peer counseling in communities.

This past year was a time of much change. After many years of collaboration, the relationships among the Wisconsin Parkinson Association, Aurora Sinai Medical Center, and Parkinson Research Institute changed. The result is a new, private, and independent Parkinson’s outreach and education association with a research arm within one organization. Our goal is to use the research findings to provide better information to those living with Parkinson’s.

Our board membership has changed as well. We are delighted to welcome six new members who bring a variety of strengths to the board. I am also grateful to the staff of the WPA and PRI, who have worked hard during this time of transition to coalesce into one organization. We look ahead to a future of service to those with Parkinson’s.

Sincerely,

Richard Schumann

Mission
The mission of the Wisconsin Parkinson Association is to expand medical professional and public awareness and understanding about Parkinson disease that will lead to maximum support, the best individual health care, assistance for caregivers and families, and increased funding for research.

Vision
The vision of the Wisconsin Parkinson Association is to create a world without Parkinson disease – until then, we are here to help by:

- making the public more aware of Parkinson’s and where to get help;
- educating health-care professionals about how to recognize and treat Parkinson’s;
- supporting people with Parkinson’s, their caregivers, and family members;
- providing information to people with Parkinson’s so that they have the resources and knowledge to treat and care for their disease; and
- supporting research into the cause, better treatment, and a cure.
Significant Accomplishments

Back the Pack Fund-raiser (October 7, 2012)
Former Green Bay Packers head coach and player, Forrest Gregg, was honorary chairman of the WPA’s “Back the Pack against Parkinson Disease” fund-raiser held at the Italian Community Center in Milwaukee. The green-and-gold afternoon featured the Packer vs. Colts game projected on large screens in the ballroom, a BBQ lunch, football-shaped cookies, a silent auction and raffle, and autograph signing by former Packer Robert Long. Three hundred supporters attended the afternoon event, bringing the total earned to nearly $36,000.

WPA Annual Meeting (December 13, 2012)
The annual meeting took place at Klemmer’s Banquet Hall in Milwaukee. Guests enjoyed lunch while Executive Director Jay Blankenship reported on the WPA’s key accomplishments. Following a talk by Winfield Reinemann—guest speaker, former WPA board treasurer, and recently retired Brookfield support group facilitator—the WPA presented him with a commemorative award. Jeanne Schimmer, RN, the director of outreach and education, reported on program activities and plans for the coming year. Jay acknowledged departing board member and board secretary, Betty Sancier, for her ten years of service on the board of directors and her advocacy efforts on behalf of those living with Parkinson disease.
Wisconsin Parkinson Association and Parkinson Research Institute Merge (February 15, 2013)
Due to changes in Federal health-care policy and budgetary constraints, Aurora Sinai Medical Center reexamined its relationship with many of its non-Aurora partners, including the WPA and PRI. PRI was part of Aurora’s research division, and the WPA helped to fund this research while receiving support from Aurora. After months of deliberations and negotiations, the Wisconsin Parkinson Association and Parkinson Research Institute merged to create an independent, private Parkinson disease outreach and education association with a research center. At its February meeting, the WPA board of directors approved to accept the financial and administrative responsibility for the Parkinson Research Institute. The board also installed new board members Jonette N. Arms, Denis L. Ashauer, Robert V. Norman, and Brittany A. Rosales.

Parkinson’s Disease Awareness Month (April 2013)
In addition to its membership drive, the WPA aimed to increase awareness by hosting a one-man play about young-onset Parkinson’s titled “Side Effects May Include…” in Wehr Hall at Alverno College on April 21. Written by Marc Jaffe and Eric Coble, the show highlighted the ups and downs of young-onset Parkinson’s through its protagonist, a stand-up comedian whose wife has been recently diagnosed. More than 100 persons attended the play.

New Director of Outreach and Education
Jeremy Otte has joined the WPA staff as its new director of outreach and education. Jeremy, previously employed by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society as director of community engagement, has more than fifteen years of experience with nonprofit organizations, providing outreach and education through these organizations. He has a bachelor’s in community health education from the University of Wisconsin–La Crosse.

WPA Open against Parkinson Disease (June 4, 2013)
Cherie Zaun, a former LPGA professional golfer who lives with Parkinson disease, was on hand during the WPA Open to offer pointers to golfers.

This second annual golf tournament to benefit the WPA again featured the beautiful course at The Legend at Brandybrook in Wales, Wisconsin. Former LPGA professional golfer, Cherie Zaun, was special guest to provide golfing advice to fifty golfers during an event that grossed more than $25,000. The event concluded with a formal dinner and silent auction.

Golfers enjoyed playing at The Legend at Brandybrook, Wisconsin’s only 54-hole private country club. Inset, board member and then-president, Michael Hillman, puts as special guest and fellow golfer, Tom Pipines, anchor and reporter for Fox 6 sports, looks on.

Parkinson Research Institute
The Wisconsin Parkinson Association and Parkinson Research Institute have formally joined together to form a unique Parkinson organization that offers support, outreach, and research. The Parkinson Research Institute in FY 2012-13 has seen increased activity associated with its brain bank program as well as additional studies and presentation of results. The PRI report is available on the next page.
Parkinson Research Institute
by Maggie Wallendal, MSW, Associate Director and Thomas Fritsch, PhD, Director

PRI had an extremely productive year, with growth in our brain bank program, publication of scholarly papers, the development of new partnerships with students who devote their energies to PD research, procurement of grants, and the dissemination of information to the public.

PRI Brain Bank Program The brain bank program—an extremely important and unique component of our institute—continues to grow each year. Last year, 17 registrants passed away, leaving their tissues to our program for scientific study. Additionally, 34 new registrants entered into the program. This is the highest number of new registrations since the program was started in 2004. Private donations from families of loved ones and those who are interested in furthering “basic” research are the sole supporters of this unique program.

Scholarship The PRI team has spent significant time working on scholarly articles this year. In addition to submitting a total of seven articles for WPA’s quarterly magazine, The Network, PRI submitted two scholarly articles, and another is forthcoming. PRI published a case study discussing disinhibition syndrome (excessive gambling, hypersexuality, hobbying, etc.) caused by rapidly increasing L-dopa dosage. At the time of this writing, the article has been viewed by more than 10,000 people worldwide.

Other Research Contributions PRI is continually approached by students from nearby colleges and universities, asking for assistance with their research projects. Often they are seeking participants with PD and/or assistance in data collection. A goal of PRI is to encourage bright students to work in the field of PD. Currently, one student who is working on her thesis is collecting data from clinic patients who wear bifocals to determine whether bifocals increase the number of falls. Nurse Dacy Reimer serves on this student’s thesis committee. Two more students will begin their respective projects in the next year.

Grants We are pleased to announce that PRI is partnering with a corporation to test new PD diagnostic equipment. The project will involve having a medical exam, neuropsychologic testing, and a radiologic scan. Most importantly, the project will rely on tissue collected from our brain bank program. When results come in, we will report them in The Network. This project is expected to begin in early 2014. PRI has also received a grant from the Greater Milwaukee Foundation to provide funding for many PRI initiatives, including the continuation of research projects and development of new studies. That grant was awarded in July 2013. We are grateful to the GMF for their support this past year and for their very generous support in previous years.

Spreading the Word Part of our responsibility when conducting research is to discuss and present our results when studies are complete. There seems to be a hunger in the public for knowledge about new research findings. In response, the PRI team spoke to six support groups, presented talks at the WPA’s annual symposium, and gave two Living Well Conference presentations. Additionally, PRI was able to present research project results at two professional conferences: the State Alzheimer’s Association Conference and a Conference on Translational Medicine. Dr. Fritsch was also featured on the TV show, Senior Beat!, on which he discussed new findings about PD.
WPA Programs and Services
by Jeremy Otte
Director of Outreach and Education

The Wisconsin Parkinson Association’s fiscal year 2012–2013 programs and services were planned in accordance with our mission statement. The WPA provided educational opportunities to the Parkinson and medical communities to expand medical professional and public awareness and understanding about Parkinson disease. Here are some of the highlights from our past year’s programs and services.

Understanding PD Seminars
These two-hour seminars provide basic information about Parkinson disease and are open to anyone in the community who would like to learn more about PD. These seminars help us increase public understanding about PD, which is important because it is so often underdiagnosed and misunderstood. The locations were chosen with the help of local support group leaders looking to provide education to their group members and community. We held seminars in Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, and Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and in Menominee, Michigan.

Living Well Conferences
This past year, we held two Living Well Conferences: one in Rockford, Illinois, and one in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The half-day conferences featured educational presentations conducted by physicians, researchers, and other health-care professionals. These regional conferences, which are especially helpful to patients who are unable to travel to our annual symposium, served more than 200 people.

Kenton Kilmer Parkinson Disease Symposium
This is our full-day annual education symposium. This year, it was held at Chula Vista in the Wisconsin Dells. In June, 170 people attend the symposium. We had speakers talk about emerging PD treatments, Parkinson and stem cell research, and the importance of exercise and PD. Also, the conference featured break-out sessions covering topics ranging from coping with humor, what to expect during your doctor visit, and tai chi.

Newly Diagnosed Workshops
When first learning they have a diagnosis of Parkinson disease, the patients and their families have many concerns and questions. The WPA sponsored one workshop this past year for patients and their loved ones. Those attending were given valuable information regarding Parkinson disease, as well as the chance to pose questions to Parkinson disease professionals such as an occupational therapist and a neuropsychologist.

Support Groups
The WPA is associated with more than 60 support groups throughout a five-state area. The WPA’s staff gave presentations more than 60 times to the support groups, discussing programs and services offered by the WPA and PRI. The WPA provides educational materials, speaker and topic ideas, modest grants to help run the meetings, and assistance with advertising and promotion of their groups.
Facilitator Training
Parkinson disease support group leaders attend the annual Jody Goratowski Support Group Facilitator Training prior to the annual symposium. The goal is to assist facilitators in running their groups effectively and to train them as a facilitator. During the session, they are encouraged to share their knowledge, network, and discuss potential speakers and topics.

The Network Magazine
The WPA’s quarterly magazine is available to WPA members. The Network provides up-to-date information on medications, research, clinical updates, ways to live well with PD, reports about community events, and a listing of support groups in our service area of Wisconsin and the surrounding states of Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, and Indiana.

Website
The WPA’s website (www.wiparkinson.org) provides information about Parkinson disease and local exercise classes and support groups; it also highlights WPA programs and events in the communities we serve, and it offers information about research.

Library
The WPA has a vast lending library of books and DVDs open to its members and the support group facilitators. This past year, the library was relocated to a more visible location within the Regional Parkinson Center, making it more accessible to the center’s patients and WPA’s members.

Medical Staff Training
In-services were provided to staff at long-term-care and home-care agencies that provide care to PD patients. This year, in-service training was conducted for BrightStar, Touchmark, and Comfort Keepers as well as to caregivers at the Alzheimer’s Association state conference.

Referral Services
The WPA receives many calls from patients and their loved ones. Our staff provides educational resources, support groups referrals, local movement disorder specialists, and more. Our goal is to connect each caller with the most relevant organization that can meet their needs. Also, we provide multiple referrals per request to best find the service or organization to respond to their request.

At the 2013 annual symposium, held in June at Chula Vista in the Wisconsin Dells, the WPA Tulip Award was presented to organizers of the Fall Parkinson Ride in Memory of LaVern McCarville and Marvin Emberson. This remarkable group has created an annual motorcycle ride through south Wisconsin to honor loved ones and raise money to help support the WPA. Left to right: Heather and Eric Emberson, Brandon Hendrickson, and Rene Nicholson attended the symposium to receive the award. The WPA gratefully acknowledges the numerous other organizers and participants in the event.

The FY 2012-13 (September 1, 2012 to August 31, 2013) results were released by the association’s independent auditor, WIPFLi, in December 2013. The auditor expressed an unqualified opinion that the financial statements presented fairly the financial position of the Wisconsin Parkinson Association in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. For a detailed report, visit www.wiparkinson.org > About Us > Financial Information > Audited Financial Statements.

On February 15, 2013, the Wisconsin Parkinson Association entered into a memorandum of understanding with Aurora Sinai Medical Center; Aurora Foundation, Inc.; the Wisconsin Institute for Neurologic and Sleep Disorders, S.C.; and the Parkinson Research Institute, a division of Aurora Sinai Medical Center, whereby Aurora Sinai Medical Center transferred ownership and title to all data intellectual property, and assets of the Parkinson Research Institute, including operations, to the Wisconsin Parkinson Association.

For the third year, Craig High School in Janesville raised money through its “Pace for Parkinson’s” 5K run/1-mile family fun walk for the Wisconsin Parkinson Association to fund education, support, and research. On a brisk morning in April, more than 300 runners participated. Students, teachers, parents, and the community all were involved in multiple fund-raising events leading up to the race/walk, and the result was a fantastic $14,000. The event originally was created to honor the school’s former principal, Dr. Mike Kuehne, who has Parkinson disease, and now honor all who are living with Parkinson’s.

Students of Milton Middle School in Milton, Wisconsin, learned that a former teacher, had been diagnosed with Parkinson’s and was having difficulty with speech. They researched communication devices, held fund-raising events, mobilized the community, and within a little more than a month raised $4,000 to cover the cost of a device suited to Jim Rotar’s needs, with training for him – and the donated the remaining $1,380.04 to the Wisconsin Parkinson Association. Never underestimate what 500 seventh- and eighth-graders can achieve!
